

Grey Socks and Donkeys

It was a sunny day and the kids went outside to play. They played next to a big brown house. They saw a clothesline next to the house.

"We can play dress-up and go on a journey!" they said.

A grumpy old grandpa came out of the brown house. "Go away!" he yelled. "You took all my grey socks and you stole my pet donkey!"

The kids didn't take anything. They didn't see any grey socks. They didn't see a donkey.

The grumpy old grandpa was very mad. "You took all my grey socks and my donkey!" The kids were scared. They ran and ran until they were miles away.

When they got home they were very hungry. They ate turkey with honey and were very happy.
