

Fry in Oil or Boil?

The children joined a cooking class. They had a choice to either fry potatoes in oil or to boil them in water.

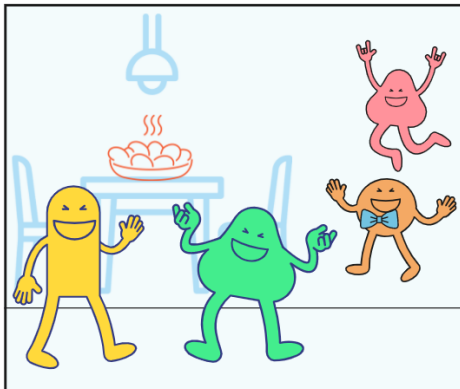

The children could not decide so they flipped a coin. Heads to fry the potatoes in oil. Tails to boil the potatoes in water.

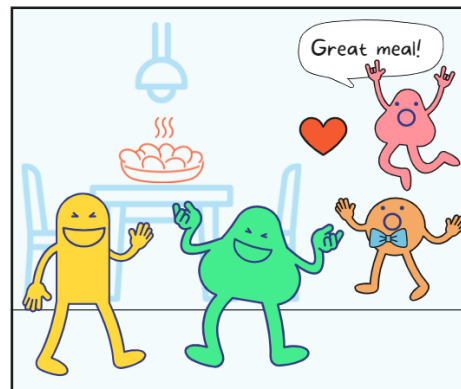

The coin landed on heads. The children fried the potatoes in oil, which made a funny crackling noise.

They wrapped the fried potatoes in foil so they would not spoil.

The group asked the entire class to join them to eat the food fried in oil. The potatoes were moist and fresh.

The children shouted in their loud voices, "It was a great meal!"
