

Annie and her Long Red Coat

Annie had a long red coat. She loved her coat and wore it every day. Annie said that it gave her good luck.

One day, she couldn't find her coat. She looked here and she looked there. She even looked on the road.

On the road, there was a goat.
"Where is my coat?" asked Annie.
"I don't know" said the goat.

There was a toad on the road.
"Where is my coat?" asked Annie.
"I don't know," said the toad.

Then, Annie noticed a man in a boat.
"Did you see my long red coat?" asked Annie. She screamed so hard, it pained her throat.

"Look! I see your coat!" said the man in the boat. "It is floating in the water," he said. "Oh, no!, it is covered in soap! Here it is...but it's wet."

"Yes, that's my coat" said Annie.
"Thank you!"
"Your coat is full of soap, but please take this loaf - Go home and make some toast!" said the man in the boat.
