Bottle Cap Letter Game

The aim of the game is to familiarize the student with the letters and sounds he has learnt.

What do you need?

At least 2 caps for each letter- on one you write the small case letter and on the other one the capital one (or use round stickers on which you write the letters)

How to Play

Scatter the letters on the floor and make small pyramids from 3 caps each. Take one cap and ask the student- what is the sound of the letter? Which word begins with the letter?

When he answers correctly, he gets the opportunity to hit a pyramid. If he succeeds, he takes all the caps. The game is over when all the caps are in his hands.

This is one way to play but there are many ways, for example: Scatter the letters and build words, write words on the caps so he can make sentences from the story he learnt, build a pyramid or another structure out of the letters, and so on. If there are two students or more, make it a competition.

It looks like that 😊
