

Ching Does the Cha-cha-cha!

Ching teaches the Cha-cha-cha dance at Reach Dance School. Children and adults like to dance the Cha-cha with Ching. She is the best teacher in all of China.

Chow is the cook at Reach. Each day Chow makes lunch listening to the music from Ching's Cha-cha class. ("One, two, cha-cha-cha!")

Chow makes chicken chops and chips, or avocado and cheese salad. Ching eats lunch from Chow each day, but she never chats or thanks him.

Chow likes the Cha-cha and he also likes Ching. His eyes twinkle when he sees her. If only he could reach out to her and ask her to cha-cha with him!

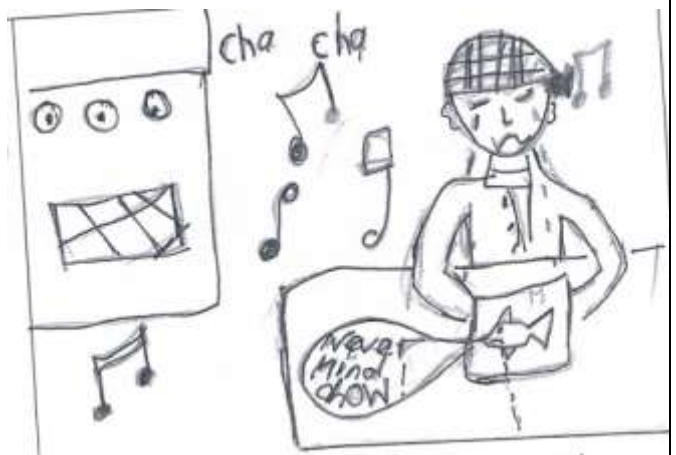

Then one day when Chow brings Ching her lunch, he begins to dance the Cha-cha. The crowd cheers. "Cha-cha-cha, can I cha-cha with you?" Faster and faster he chants and cha-chas.

Ching shouts, "Are you mad? I am the star of the Cha-cha! I have fans from near and far and you are like a little frog. How dare you!"

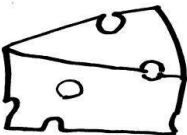

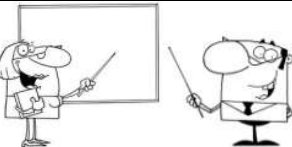

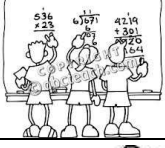

Ching throws her lunch to the floor and flings her chicken chop at Chow's head. Chow keeps doing the Cha-cha, until the screaming Ching chases him out of the room. Finally he stops.

Chow goes back to making lunch with no cheer. He doesn't like th Cha-cha any more!
